

Hangman: Ten Commandments Game (idea from <http://www.kirkofkildaire.org>)

Individuals or teams take turns spinning a spinner or tossing a die and then guessing letters to fill in the blanks. Each person gets the points shown on the die (not multiplied for more than one appearance of the letter). The teacher keeps score. Each student may continue spinning and asking for letters until he asks for a letter that is not on the puzzle. Then the next person takes his/her turn. After spinning, a person may solve the puzzle.

If the student can tell the number of the commandment, [s]he will get an additional 5 points. Or an additional 1 point can be awarded for identifying whether the commandment is in the first four (duty to God) or last six (duty to fellowmen) section.

(Teacher: place each sheet in a plastic page protector and use a dry-erase marker to write the letters in the correct places. Place the answer side toward you so that you can put the letters on the correct line.)
